THE LENTEN SEASON IS HERE.

Official Rules and Regulations to be Observed by All Catholics in This Diocese.

Right Reverend William J. Kenny, bishop of St. Augustine, Fla., has issued the following official regulations for Lent:

Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, falls on the 8th day of March.

1. All the faithful who have completed their twenty-first year, unless exempt by dispensation or some other legitimate cause, are bound to observe the fast of Lent.

2. They are to make one meal only a day, except on Sundays.

3. The meal permitted on fast days is not to be taken until about noon.

4. A small refreshment, commonly called collation, is permitted in the evening.

5. The following persons are exempt from the obligations of fasting: Persons under twenty-one years of age, the sick, nursing women, those who are obliged to do hard labor, and those who through weakness, cannot fast without great prejudice to their health.

6. The faithful are reminded that, besides the obligation of fasting imposed by the church, this holy season of Lent should be, in an especial manner, a time of earnest prayer, of sorrow for sin, of seclusion from the world and its amusements, and of generous alms giving.

By virtue of an indult to the United States, dated August 3, 1887, the following special dispensations are granted:

First—The use of flesh meat is permitted at all meals on Sundays, and once on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, with the exception of the second and last Saturday of Lent. But flesh meat and fish are not to be used at the same meal during Lent, even on Sundays.

Second—The use of butter, cheese, milk and eggs is also permitted every day in Lent.

Third—It is allowed to take in the morning some warm liquid, as tea, coffee or thin chocolate made with water, and with this liquid a small piece of bread.

Fourth—Those for whom the hour of noon may be an inconvenient time for dinner, may invert the order and take their collation in the morning and their dinner in the evening.

Fifth—The use of hogs' hard or dripping, instead of butter, is authorized in preparing the permitted food.

Sixth—Persons exempt from the obligation of fasting are free to take meat more than once on those days when its use is granted by dispensation.

The Paschal time extends from the first Sunday in Lent till Trinity Sunday, during which time all Catholics who have attained the proper age are bound to receive worthily the holy communion. The holy season of Lent is also a very proper time for children to make their first confession, which they ought to do generally at about the age of seven years. Parents should see to this.

Entertainment at Hotel Ormond

A vaudeville entertainment was given at the Hotel Ormond Monday by the guests of the hotel, the proceeds of which were for the benefit of the Village Improvement Association. The opening number was "I Can't Do This Sum," with Dorothy Seamans as Little Bo Peep, Dorothy Adriance as Little Red Riding Hood, Mary Simard, Jim and Allen Adriance, Bobby Shatto, Darrell Carnell, Little Boy Blue, Hubert Price, Jack and Helen McQuoid, as Ann.

Several skits on those present were sung and occasioned much laughter and applause.

"The Little Yaller Coon," by Snow Ball sextette followed, and after much guessing the soloist was discovered to be Miss Horace Moorehead, while the other four ones were popular ladies about the hotel.

"Tom Thumb," the trick pony, who has been in training for five weeks at the stable under the tuition of Prof. Jack McGuicken, appeared next and showed himself a remarkable little fellow to have learned his lesson so well in so short a time. He did several clever things, such as picking up certain colored handkerchiefs when told, telling how old he was, how many days in the week, etc., shaking his head in refusal to do certain things until his lump of sugar came, when he rushed to do the bidding of his master and showed clearly how thorough had been his training.

Mrs. E. Payson, Philadelphia; G. D. Jones and wife, Columbus, O.; A. C. Eaton, Stafford, Conn.; T. A. Quirk and wife, Buffalo, N. Y.; J. H. Gale and wife, Hunter, N. D.; J. C. Deacon, F. S. Wright, Chicago are guests of The Palmetto.

An Old Favorite

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

By Shakespeare

IS but thy name that is my enemy: Thou art thyself, though not a Montague. What's Montague? It is nor hand, nor foot, Nor arm, nor face, nor any other part Belonging to a man. O, be some other name! What's in a name? that which we call a rose By any other name would smell as sweet: So Romeo would, were he not Romeo called, Retain that dear perfection which he owes, Without that title: Romeo, doff thy name; And for thy name, which is no part of thee, Take all myself.

THE BEGGAR TRUST.

A Scheme That For a Time Was a Success in New York.

Several years ago a one-legged youth named Kepton, who had left a comfortable home to engage deliberately in begging, conceived the idea of organizing a community of interest among panhandlers in the Park row district, in New York. He picked out strategic spots throughout the city and selected a man to beg in each. These men were always particularly well adapted to their posts—a blind blind man here, a crust thrower there, a maimed youth somewhere else. In order that the beggars might not be molested by the police, a lookout was appointed for each, and in order that the syndicate's interests might be conserved Kepton employed roundsmen to observe how faithfully the beggars attended to business and to collect hourly the earnings of each. In case of arrest each member of the band was assured of legal representation, to be paid for out of the earnings of the pool.

The scheme thrived for many months, and at one time there were thirty men in the combination, which became a close corporation of profit and power. There is no knowing to what extent it might have expanded nor how influential it might have become at last had not the nature of the organization given it undue prominence and caused it to fall directly under the ban of the mendicant squad. One by one the members were captured and sent to the island, and in the end the game was broken up. Theodore Waters in Everybody's Magazine.

AN ASPHALT LAKE.

The Way the Stuff is Mined and Prepared For Market.

The largest South American asphalt lake, in Venezuela, consists of a dark brownish deposit of semifluid and semisolid substance surrounded by banks from three to six feet high. In the center of this lake is a continual ejection of hot fluid asphalt, accompanied by large bubbles of gas.

The dark skinned workmen excavate it in pieces weighing in the neighborhood of twenty-five pounds, sections forty feet in area and about four feet deep being worked at one time. As quickly as freed from its surroundings it is placed in large tubs, resting upon small flat topped tram cars operated upon a narrow gauge road. The entire surface is constantly moving, thus necessitating a continual relaying of the tracks.

The freshly excavated asphalt is conveyed to the shore, where the tubs are lifted by hydraulic power to an aerial tramway, by which it is conveyed to the large wharf situated on the Guanero river, about five miles distant from the lake. Here it is weighed and dumped into vessels which convey it to the foreign lands.

Upon its arrival at a factory it is heated until the water is expelled and the earthy material cast to the bottom of the large vats, and it is poured through a sieve into barrels, where it solidifies. It is then ready for commerce.—New York Tribune.

Money may not make the man, but that doesn't prevent the man from trying to make money.

TOBACCO SMOKE.

The Reason That Some of It Is Blue and Some Gray.

Smoke consists of minute particles of solid or liquid matter suspended in the air, and its color depends partly upon the chemical constitution of such particles, but also largely upon their size. Exact experiment has shown that, as the size of minute particles suspended in air is gradually increased, they give rise to colors varying from sky blue down through the whole range of the spectral scale. This is the cause of sunset and sunrise colors in the sky. Its effects can also be traced in the case of the two kinds of tobacco smoke, modified by the murky tints of the carbonaceous products. The smoke given off from the heated surface of the burning tobacco in the bowl of the pipe consists of matter all of which has been highly heated and very fully oxidized and decomposed. It consists mainly of exceedingly small, solid particles, exhibiting by virtue of their smallness a bluish color. On the other hand, that smoke which has been drawn through the tobacco into the mouth of the smoker carries with it a relatively large quantity of water and hydrocarbon, which are condensed upon the solid particles above mentioned. The relatively large size of such particles explains the well known grayish color of the smoke which issues from the mouth of the smoker.

GREEK SUPERSTITIONS.

Some of the Old Mythological Beliefs Still Prevail.

"Some of the superstitions of the old mythologic religion still prevail among the peasant classes in Greece," said a native of that country. "Nor are the educated classes without such beliefs, such as that harm comes from looking at the moon over the right shoulder. The belief in the three fates, the evil eye, the vampires and the nereids is general. Dressed in black and appearing as old women, the fates are supposed to come down from Olympus three days after the birth of a child and to hold a meeting to determine its fate. Consequently a table containing many dainties is set out for their invisible enjoyment. Especial care is taken lest the old ladies be enraged at not having enough good things to eat. 'No woman desires to be left alone after her child is born, believing that the ugly old women may become jealous and wreak some awful vengeance. Smut is therefore smeared on the faces of the youngsters so that this jealousy may not become excited. 'The young Athenian women frequently go to the ancient tombs near Athens and, calling upon the fates, beg them to reveal the identity of their future husbands, singing, 'From the top of Olympus, where are the fates, where is my own fate?'—Washington Post.

Lucky to Be Alive.

Patient—Great Scott, doctor, that's an awful bill for one week's treatment! Physician—My dear fellow, if you knew what an interesting case yours was and how strongly I was tempted to let it go to a postmortem you wouldn't grumble at a bill three times as big as this.—Chicago Tribune.

Church Improvement.

The First Baptist Church of this city has just completed the putting in of a fine piece of work in the way of hoisting doors, made of black cypress, between the main auditorium and the Sunday school room and the vestibule.

The ladies have added largely to the electric lighting of the church by additional curling clusters and side brackets, besides the supplying of the pews with neat envelope holders.

The people of the church feel deeply grateful to the Misses Jennie M. and Matilda Smith, Miss Sarah Jarvis and Mrs. Washington Jarvis, all of Pittsburg, Pa., who so kindly contributed the needful in making the above improvements possible.

These improvements, together with the pews, pulpit furniture, carpet and choir railing, but recently installed, places this church building now second to no other in Daytona.

Fishing Party

Messrs. A. J. Demary, M. L. Stanley and J. O. Owens were the guests of J. L. Russell on a fishing trip to the Inlet yesterday.

A number of blue fish and trout were secured and the party thoroughly enjoyed the trip.

Euchre Party.

The guests of The Austin assembled last night to contest for some handsome prizes offered for the progressive euchre contestants. Eight tables were brought into requisition to seat the large number of contestants, and the event proved the most enjoyable one of the season at that hotel.

Mrs. C. C. Boyce, of Escambia, Mich., won the first ladies' prize a silver orange knife.

Frank F. Thorpe, of Cincinnati, won the gentlemen's prize, a deck of cards in a burnt leather case.

The consolation prize was awarded to Mrs. H. Whyte, of Montreal, Canada.

At the completion of the game delicate and elaborate refreshments were served in the dining hall.

THE RIDGEWOOD ANNUAL BALL

At Least Three Hundred Guests Attended This, The Most Important Social Event of the Season.

The annual ball at The Ridgewood, the largest hotel in the city, was attended last night by over three hundred guests.

The hotel was brilliantly illuminated for the occasion and the decorations consisting of ferns, evergreens and superb American beauty roses, were tastefully and artistically arranged.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Langworthy graciously received the guests upon their arrival, and did all in their power to insure a pleasant evening for their guests.

Dancing commenced promptly at nine in the large dining room, the music being furnished by the hotel orchestra and continued until 12. The handsomely gowned ladies and gentlemen in full dress making a scene long to be remembered by those fortunate enough to be present.

Among the prominent visitors present were: Mrs. Robinson, Miss Winn, Mr. and Mrs. Ott, J. R. Allen, Mrs. Haines, Mr. and Mrs. Otter, Dr. and Mrs. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Carl Knappe, guests of The Clarendon; Mr. Deau and daughter, Mrs. Carswell, Mrs. Barnes; Mrs. Mulligan, Mrs. Goodwin, guests of The Despland; Mr. and Mrs. and Mrs. Kenney, Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Steward, Miss McFarland, Toronto, Canada; Edw. Hamblin, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, Chicago; Miss Sandusky, Louisville, guests of The Seaside.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Demary, Buffalo; Chas. Smith, Detroit; Dr. Longree, Lynn, Mass.; Chas. Philbrick, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Stanley, New Britain, Conn. guests of The Colonades.

Benford Deacon has the thanks of the editor for a fine string of sheep-head, the product of Mr. Deacon's successful venture on Tuesday. He reports fishing as being fine down the river.
